The Bond of E. J. Stone, commissioner of the new loan, in the penal stm of $15,000, with J. C. Thomas as surety, was approved.

The official bond of Andrew J. Sweeney was read, and the action of the Second Branch in approving the same was concurred in.
The bonds of John W. Gunnings, James G. White, E. J. Stone and Alex. Upder all were read, and the approval of the Second Branch was concurred in.
Mr. Stone alluded to the extravagance of the bond required of the Loan Commissioners, in consideration of the small sum of money coming into their hands. He also inquired what had become of the resolution fixing the salaries of officers before their election, and was informed that the resolution had gone to the Second Branch.

the reading of the bond, and making a few remarks in opposition to its approyal, moved to lay it on the table, and thus adjourn.
Mr. Blair moved to adjourn.
Mr. Hall objected, as the business of fixing salaries ought to be attended to before the adjournment.
The motion to adjourn was loat. at, moved to lay it on the table, and thus shut off all debate. The motion was im mediately seconded by Mr. Wait, but not until after Mr. Logan had arose and been recognized by the chair.

The motion to adjourn was loat. His Honor the Mayor having returned from the Second Baanch chamber announced the bond of Stephen Ripley, and the action of the Second Branch inapproving the same was concurred in.

A message from the Second Branch announced that the resolution of the First Branch appointing a special committee to reportspone salaries at a meetrecognized by the chair.

Dr. Logan maintained that Council had no right to lay a bond on the table. It should be either accepted or rejected. The City Solicitor had stated on Saturday that there was no law upon the subject, and had not stated, as Mr. Reeves claimed, that Council alone had jurisdiction in the premises. Corporate bodies only have such powers as are conveyed to them, and are not silowed to exercise inferential powers. Council must look only to the ordinances for powers. The Municipal Court had decided that Council had no jurisdiction in the cage. In

MR. RIPLEYS BOND.—In the Municipal Court yesterday Captain Stephen Ripley, City Sergeant elect, appeared with his bondsmen, as required by law. The Court declined to approve the bond, however, for the reason that a like bond had not been entered into with the City Coursell as required into with the City Coursell as into with the City Council, as required by Section 2 of Chapter 39 of the Ordinances. The following order was entered in the case; In the Municipal Court of Wheeling; indulged in, which resulted in nothing definite.

Mr. Forbes opposed the motion, because since 1836 Council had passed on all elections, and is the absence of law upon the subject he thought that precedent ought to have some weight.

Mr. Logan claimed that the question before Council was not as to whether Mr. Ripley was elected, but whether his bond would be received. If the bond be approved and Mr. Ripley aworn, Mr. Sweeney's claims would not be interfered with in the least.

An effort was here made by Mr. Belix to lay the motion on the table, but without success.

Mr. Cowden then addressed the Council in alwor of the motion, quoting from the ordinances to show that Council had no jurisdiction in determining the election of the City Sergeant. He was several times interrupted by Messra, Reeves and Korbes, and finally gave way to hear the opinion of the City Solicitor upon the second Branch.

A vote was then taken upon the motion to the part of the motion of the City Sergeant of the city of Wheeling, and finally gave way to hear the opinion of the City Solicitor upon the second Branch.

A resolution from the First Branch looking to the appointment of a commit, tee to fix the salaries of the city officers LOWER MARKET.—The markets seem to be improving lately, both in the quantity of produce offered for sale and the demand for the same. This is accounted for to some extent by the fact that the country roads are in better condition than for some time past, and the mills in the city and vicinity are running more regularly. The market in Centre Wheeling yesterday morning was thich larger than usual. The line weather of the past few days has increased the supply of eggs, and the price has dropped from 40 to 25a30 cents per dozen. If the weather continues as pleasant for a week as it is at present, eggs will be down to 200 cents per dozen. Butter is in good supply, at 20a25 cents per pound for choice. Good potatoes will bring almost any price; 40 cents per peck is usually asked. Applea are advancing, selling as high as $1.25 per barrel. Beans, too, are going up. The wholesale price is now $2 per bushel, but they still retail at $a10 cents per quart. Since the removal of the ice embargo at Oyster lay, Baltimore, the great source of supply, those juicy biylves have become more plential, and consequently cheaper, ruling now at 25 cents per quart in the bulk. There is no change in the price of poultry or game. Pravisions, vegetables and groceries, with the exceptions noted above, are unchanged. tee to fix the salaries of the city officer elective by Council, was amended by in elective by Council, was amended by inatructing the committee to report on

The subject of fraudulent adulteration

A REALLY valuable suggestion regarding theatres has just been made, and will undoubtedly be acted upon. It is proposed that, in addition to opera glasses, all the theatres keep on hand, for rent, patent hermetically fastening car-muffs, which will entirely exclude the sound of the human voice, as well as that of all musical instruments. In amateur musical performances the value of a little contrivance like this would be incalcuable.

MARRIED and yet unhappy. How many a home has been robbed of sunshine and happiness and rendered sad and described by the loss of some dear and petied child. This is a dangerous season for children, and parents should keep Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup handy.

In consequence of a severe.

In charming duet was not given, but it was promised for another time. In place of it Mr. Guttenberg kindly sang, "It Was Not Thus to Be," in his usual good taste. Master Thompson played his piano selections very nicely, and with careful study and good teaching he promises to develop into a good player.

tions very nicely, and with careful study and good teaching he promises to develop into a good player.

The difficult and pathetic song of Schubert's, "My Rest is Gone," was sung by Mrs. Shelb in her usual sympathetic manner, and it la really a pleasure to listen to such an able exponent of the romantic German songs, as Mrs. Shelb is, which her long residence in, Germany has made her, studying them with teachers who personally knew many of the composers. In this song, as in the pianosolo following, "The Zither Player," Miss Jamison's piano playing was remarkable as being distinct and clear, in marked contrast to much that we often hear. In place of "Eilleen Allanna," which had to be omitted, owing to Mrs. Shelb's hoarseness, Mrs. Shelb's singing of this, as all cles whe sings in languages, we understand, is her very distinct pronunciation of the words, giving a double charm to the hearer of the music. The two piano solos following gave evidence that Miss Jamison has a good conception of these classic pieces, and, her execution being very excellent, one derives exceeding pleasure from her evidence that Miss Jamison has a good conception of these classic pieces, and, her execution being very excellent, one derives exceeding pleasure from her playing, and hopes to hear her play something more elaberate among the classics. The waltz song sung by Mra. Sheib met the expectation of ourselves, who enjoy one-two-three music at any time. We could hardly keep our feet still, and wished we could be in the "dreamy waltz" forever if Mra. Sheib would only keep on singing so charmingly. Mr. Guttenberg let us hear his excellent voice to advantage in his pretty solo "Down deep in the cellar," and if he will only give us the words more distinctly, his singing of such beautiful songs will leave little more to be desired. We want to hear him sing something again that will show off the splendid low tones he has given the public to hear. The Alboni Waltz, played by Miss Jamison, made us wish for more such prestry music, but we were surprised beyond measure at Mrs. Sheib's singing of the "Goat Bells," although we gave her greatcredit for ability to vocalize before; her roulades and staccato notes, i her trill and execution displayed in this selection gives us a new idea of what a good voice can be made do, and if some of our singers do not eatch up some of our singers do not eatch up some of a good voice can be made do, and if some of our singers do not eatch up some of these ideas from Mrs. Sheib, they will be far behind where they ought to be. A times Mrs. Sheib's voice is a little bi sharp, but we can pardon that, for one cannot always feel en rapport, and a sym-pathetic voice like her's is more liable to parietic voice like her's is more liable to slight derangements than an unitored one. Altogether this soirce was a suc-cess, and if the next one is better than this, as is promised, these entertain-ments deserve the largest recognition in every way possible.

Frighttul Suicide.

Sr. Lous, January 30.—About two months ago Prof. Edward L. Seymour, evidently a gentleman of unusual linguistic attainments, arrived here from Chattanoega or Atlanta, and took rooms at No. 63 South Second street. At a late hour last night he was found dead in a chair in his room, with his throat cut in a frightful way. His head was almost severed from the body and hanging ever the chair. The deed was done with a razor andsix terrible gashes had been cut deep into his neck. He had not been seen since Sunday afternoon, and its therefore not known when he committed the act. The examination of his effects and diary discloses the fact that he had been in great pecuniary distress, which been in great pecuniary distress, which was doubtless the cause of the act. He was a portly man near 60 years old, and from the entries in the diary its thought that he had a wife in New York.
